

INPUT SHAFT IDENTIFICATION

MODELS: Pro-Flex 120, TD65, TD65-2, TDR-12 and TDR-15

In 2009 Progressive Turf Equipment introduced a Constant Velocity (CV) joint input shaft to several models. This made the connection to the tractor less sensitive to proper spacing and alignment of the input PTO. The models with the CV joint were given the suffix ‘B’ to help to identify them. For a short time, the non CV equipped ‘A’ models were sold along-side the ‘B’ versions. Realizing the benefits, the demand for the CV equipped ‘B’ mowers far outpaced the ‘A’ models and subsequently the ‘A’ models were discontinued in early 2012.

Later in 2012, the supplier of the CV joint input shafts made a few engineering changes. At that time, Progressive Turf Equipment Part #210230 was replaced with Part #210280, for the complete input shaft.

While the two input shafts are interchangeable as a complete shaft, the service parts differ between them and are not interchangeable. Unfortunately there are no obvious identification markings available to help differentiate the shafts from each other. To identify which shaft is currently equipped on your mower, and to ensure the correct service parts are ordered, a measurement from the tractor-side input yoke must be taken at the cross bearing as shown below.

To ensure you order the correct parts, please be sure to identify which PTO shaft you have, and use the following information chart to find the corresponding service parts:
